

Stroudsburg Driver Disappears After Automobile Accident

Police Probe
Stream For
Robert Fish

Police yesterday sought Robert O. Fish, 28, Stroudsburg, feared lost in swollen Paradise Creek after a Saturday night traffic accident near Analomink.

Apparently Fish was driving north on Route 90. His car crashed a guard fence post at the left of the highway where the road curves along the creek some two miles north of Analomink.

The impact swung the car around. It rolled backward down the bank. The auto halted before it went into the water.

Pfc. Evan Chaplin and Pfc. Joseph Murphy of the Stroudsburg barracks went to the scene after receiving a call about 9:40 p.m.

Fish had disappeared when the troopers arrived.

Standing in the rain, police pieced together the stories of some four motorists who had stopped.

Fish had evidently climbed out of the car after the wreck, police said, and had come up to the edge of the road. He asked Roger Storm, Henryville, to call a wrecker from Stroudsburg. According to witnesses Fish had suffered a cut on the head.

One man went to call State police and ask for a wrecker. The others told of seeing Fish go back down and stand on a rock below the car, right at the edge of the stream.

It was the last time he was seen. Minutes later the witnesses noticed Fish had disappeared in the darkness, police said.

Fish, a Worthington Mower employee who lives at 913 Sarah St., had spent part of the night at Stroud Manor in Analomink, police said. An employee of the manor later recovered from the parking lot outside, a hat believed to belong to Fish.

Police learned Fish had called his wife, Irene, who was visiting friends in Cresco, and probably left the manor to join her.

Chaplin and Murphy checked up and downstream until 3 a.m. They found no clue to Fish's disappearance. They said the rain-flooded creek was too fast and deep for a man to wade across successfully, and that the sound of the rushing water might have covered any splashing in the event that he tumbled from the rock.

Chaplin and Pfc. Alex G. Kern resumed the search shortly after 7 a.m. yesterday. Pfc. Ed Beneski replaced Chaplin at 2 p.m. to carry on the hunt.

If Fish left the scene alive Saturday night, he apparently had not gotten in contact with either his wife and eight-year-old daughter, or his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fish, of the same address.

Fish's father appeared at the State police barracks in Stroudsburg yesterday afternoon to ask the result of the search. He was told that if his son had not turned up by this morning, a major party would be organized to go over the creek area.

Throughout the day police in hip boots waded the stream and talked to a number of fishermen. None reported seeing anything of a body.

Last night Sgt. Morgan B. Davis, Stroudsburg, put out a call for volunteers to hunt for Fish's body.

He said volunteers must be over 18 and preferably over 21 years old. They will start from the Stroudsburg barracks at 9 a.m. today.

Fishermen who planned to fish along the creek also were asked to watch for signs of a body.

Japanese Peace Treaty Becomes Effective Today

Washington (AP)—The Japanese peace treaty, which comes into effect today, was hailed yesterday as a wise settlement and criticized as a possible source of future peril to the United States.

A brief State Department ceremony will put the treaty into effect, end the American military occupation, and restore Japan to full sovereignty at 8:30 a.m. (EST) today. That will bring the Pacific phase of World War Two officially to an end for Japan and nine nations of the non-Communist world which have ratified the pact.

The new Japanese-American security treaty, which extends indefinitely American responsibility for the defense of Japan, will become effective at the same time.

Two Hurt When Plane Hits Wires

Montrose (AP)—A Batavia, N. Y., contractor and his wife were injured yesterday when their small plane struck a high power line and crashed near Springville, Pa.

William Locke, 46, and his wife, Vera, 38, were taken to Robert Packer Hospital in Sayre, Pa., where doctors listed his condition as serious and hers as critical.

Police said the two were on their way from Batavia to visit Mrs. Locke's mother at Springville.

Car Upsets; Three Suffer Minor Hurts

Three persons escaped serious injury when their car struck a concrete culvert and overturned at 4:45 p.m. Saturday on Route 209 three miles west of Stroudsburg.

Driving west on the rain-slick pavement was Benny Nacklin, 52, Saylorsburg RD, according to Stroudsburg State police. His passengers were William and Dorothy Post, Stroudsburg RD3. The car was towed to a Stroudsburg garage. Its occupants were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Taft Leading In Delegates

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio held a slight margin today over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in their contest for delegates to the Republican presidential nominating convention.

Fifty-nine GOP delegates were chosen in district and state conventions on Saturday, and while some of them were in dispute, an Associated Press tabulation credited 33 of them to Taft and 21 to Eisenhower.

The AP national tabulation gave Taft 266 delegate votes and the general 233. The figures are based on pledges, instructions, announced leanings of delegates willing to state a first ballot choice, and on candidate concessions.

Taft forces claim more than 300 delegates on the first ballot at the Chicago convention in July. Eisenhower's managers have not made a nation-wide claim of delegates.

Crash Results In Slight Damage

Minor damage was caused by the collision of a car and truck at 3 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Routes 90 and 190, four miles north of Stroudsburg.

A car driven by Michael Chackalovchack, 26, Berwick machinist, received $30 damages, and the truck of George K. Brands, 50, Stroudsburg RD1 landscaper, an estimated $10 damage. There were no injuries or arrests, according to Pfc. Ed. Beneski.

Reds Building Strong Line Across Korea, Bolster Army

Tokyo, (AP)—The Communists are building and improving a crude "Siegfried Line" across Korea and show every intention of maintaining "a strong position" on the embattled peninsula, Allied general headquarters said yesterday.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters announced this official analysis as armistice talks at Panmunjom, Korea, reached a critical stage.

The report estimated Communist troop strength now at "well over three-quarters of a million men," most of them Chinese. More than half the estimated Red Air Force of 1,500 planes are jets, it added.

This buildup during nine and one-half months of truce negotiations does not yet pose a threat to U. N. forces, the Army said, but demonstrates that the Communists "intend to maintain a strong position in Korea."

On April 14, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander in Korea, predicted the Reds had stockpiled enough supplies to "go rather strongly for a week or 10 days." At that time he said he thought a Red attack less likely than a year previously because of the armistice talks.

Van Fleet expressed confidence, however, that his Eighth Army could cope with any Communist thrust.

Despite Allied air superiority, the report said, the Communists have been able to shift troops, keep front line supplies flowing and maintain troop training.

Another Big Gas Producer Expected

Driftwood, Pa. (AP)—A gas well, expected to be a big producer, is scheduled to be blown in April 30 on the property of the Bear Paw Hunting Club.

The gas was discovered at 5,875 feet Friday night and observers say all indications point to it as one of the biggest in this Cameron County area. The well was put down by John Fox.

Full Truce Delegations Tackle Issues

Panmun, Korea, Monday (AP)—The full Allied and Communist delegations of nine generals and one admiral met today on the crisis in Korean armistice negotiations.

The crisis—possibly a turning point in the truce talks—revolved around what to do about the 67,699 Korean and Chinese Red soldiers in Allied hands who say they do not want to be released to the Communists.

The delegations convened at 11 a.m. (10 p.m., EDT), Sunday in the tiny tent town of Panmunjom. Six minutes later they recessed for 30 minutes. It was the first meeting since Feb. 18 of the full delegations.

The Allies asked for the meeting almost as abruptly as they called off a Sunday session only one hour before it was scheduled to start. The U. N. Command gave no reason for cancelling Sunday's meeting.

The Korean truce talks reached a perilous stage Friday when the Reds broke off secret negotiations on the thorny problem of exchanging prisoners.

The Allies had told them that 16,000 of nearly 170,000 military and civilian prisoners in U. N. hands did not want to be released to the Reds. Among the 160,000 were 67,699 North Korean and Chinese military prisoners whom the Allies reported as saying they forcibly would resist repatriation. This is two out of every three military prisoners.

The other prisoners are Korean civilians whom the Reds had agreed may decide for themselves where to go.

But the Reds have insisted on forced repatriation for all military prisoners and the Allies demand the right of choice for each prisoner.

'Draft Truman' Move Growing

Washington (AP)—First faint signs of a "draft Truman" movement have turned up within the Democratic party.

They are growing like a spring rash, out of the difficulty the "Fair Deal" wing of the party has encountered in nurturing any candidate for the nomination who stacks up as a strong contender against Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The Truman draft movement could flower somewhat at a meeting here next month of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). Truman will address the group at a May 17 banquet.

Even with the handicap of a threatened southern Democratic revolt and the fire that is directed on scandals within his administration, the President is still regarded by many Democrats as the strongest candidate they could put up.

He said in announcing four weeks ago that he would not run again, that "I shall not accept a renomination."

Crime Required By Teen-Age Club

Orillia, Ont. (AP)—Police yesterday unfolded the story of a teen-age club whose members had to take part in some criminal activity and who were threatened with knifing if they spoke to police.

Police Chief Stanley James said 14 youngsters, aged 13 to 15, had been charged and would appear in juvenile court. Police said they believed the arrests would clear up a long list of crimes.

The first four juveniles to be questioned told of a 15-year-old youth who modeled the club on one he read about in a magazine.

Warship Rams Carrier Wasp At Sea; 63 Saved

Washington (AP)—The USS Hobson, battle-tested destroyer-minesweeper, collided with the famous carrier Wasp and sank in mid-Atlantic Saturday night, and the Navy said 174 men are missing.

Atlantic Fleet Headquarters in Norfolk, Va., said 63 men were rescued. Rear Adm. William V. O'Regan, Mine Force commander at Charleston, S. C., said 14 officers and 221 men were aboard the ship.

The Hobson's skipper, Lt. Comm. W. J. Tierney, of Philadelphia, was not on the first list of survivors, and it was feared he might have gone down with his ship.

In Washington, a spokesman at Navy headquarters said he did not want to say flatly that all the men were lost, but added "that appears to be the situation now." He said he had no information at 9 p.m., that rescue operations were still going on, however.

Earlier in the afternoon Navy headquarters said rescue operations were still on. That was nearly a full day after the mid-ocean smashup in the wind-lashed darkness. The Wasp's bow was damaged in the collision.

The accident was one of the greatest non-combat disasters the Navy suffered in recent times.

On Feb. 18, 1942, the USS Truxton, a destroyer, and the Pollux, a cargo ship, were lost in a storm off Newfoundland with 204 dead.

On April 19, 1942, 218 lives were lost when the destroyer Ingraham was involved in an Atlantic collision.

Hobson rescue operations were hampered by the dark, and by foul weather. A Navy dispatch reported that at 3 a.m. winds were "15 knots southwest, sea rough and confused." That weather report came nearly five hours after the crash.

The Wasp suffered a slashing rip for 75 feet along her bow plates, the Navy reported. She was headed for New York at reduced speed—10 knots. There was no casualties reported aboard the big carrier.

At Charleston, Adm. O'Regan said the Wasp was engaged in night flight operations with the Hobson and other naval units at the time of the collision.

O'Regan said the crash occurred as the Wasp was turning into the wind in order to recover her aircraft returning from a simulated night air strike against other ships in adjacent waters.

In order to recover her planes, O'Regan said, the Wasp would have been making approximately 20 to 25 knots, and the Hobson about the same speed.

The Hobson was struck on the starboard side and it was not known how long she stayed afloat after the collision, the Navy said.

Other ships in the task group en route to the Mediterranean included the carrier Palau, the cruisers Worcester and Baltimore, 15 destroyers and other auxiliary units.

Fleet headquarters spotted the scene of the collision as 1,200 miles due east of Boston and 700 from the Azores.

The time of the crash was given as 1:25 a.m. Sunday Greenwich time, which would be 8:25 p.m. Saturday EST. The spot being well west of the Azores, the theoretical time at the scene was before midnight.

The lost Hobson, built as a destroyer and converted to a fast minesweeper, started fighting early in the war and was nursing wounds after a heroic battle when the shooting stopped. She helped with the landing at Casablanca in North Africa, took part in the strike in Bodo, Norway, and sank the German submarine U-575.

She was in on the Normandy landing in France and later the assault on Southern France. She got a unit citation for her work in the Atlantic submarine patrol. With those chores finished she steamed to the Pacific and took a leading part in cleaning up waters around Okinawa for the American landing. Then she went on screen and picket duty there.

She was with the destroyer Pringle on the Okinawa operation when the Pringle was knocked out by Japanese planes.

The Hobson's guns were credited with downing four of the attacking aircraft, one of them blown apart so close aboard that its engine dropped into the Hobson's engine room killing five men and injuring four. Despite the damage she helped with the rescue of Pringle survivors but it took her two months to limp home to Norfolk.

At various times the Wasp sailed under the flags of the famous Third and Fifth Fleets and Task Force 38. She won eight battle stars and eight unit commendations—along with the popular name "The Stinger."

She fought all over the Pacific and was credited with downing 230 enemy planes and destroying 411 on the ground, sinking 82 ships and damaging 305 for a total tonnage of 1,187,079 sunk or damaged.

With that job finished—capped off by the air hammering of the Japanese homeland—the 27,000-ton flat-top had 6,900 bunks installed and helped bring the fighting men home. She went into the mothball fleet at Bayonne, N. J., in November, 1946, and went back to duty last September.

She was on the way to take up a station in the Mediterranean when she collided with the Hobson at latitude 42 degrees 21 minutes north, longitude 44 degrees 15 minutes west.

The submarine, headed by Sen. Humphrey, is studying the problem of Communist-dominated labor unions, particularly in defense industries.

Truman Defends Seizure As Within Constitutional Powers

Washington, (AP)—President Truman stoutly defended his steel industry seizure yesterday and said he acted within his constitutional powers.

Truman gave his views in a letter made public by the White House in reply to one about the seizure from a questioning citizen, C. S. Margery Jones, a farm operator at Washington Crossing, Pa.

"I feel sure that the Constitution does not require me to endanger our national safety by letting all the steel mills shut down in this critical time," Truman wrote Jones. The letter was released as both Republican and Democratic members of Congress continued to voice criticism of the seizure and a federal judge here, David A. Pine, was getting ready to rule in a day or two on the legality of the action. Asst. Atty. Gen. Holmes Baldridge, in defending the seizure before Judge Pine, had argued that Truman had unlimited powers in an emergency under the Constitution and that the courts lacked authority to interfere with exercise of those powers.

Truman himself seemed to have a somewhat narrower version of his authority, saying executive powers "are limited, of course, by the provisions of the Constitution, particularly those that protect the rights of individuals."

Truman said the idea of government operation of the steel mills was "distasteful to me," and he took them over for the government only "as a matter of necessity to meet an extreme emergency."

NATO Favors Gruenther As Commander

Paris (AP)—European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization want an American to succeed General Eisenhower—and they prefer Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther but will accept Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The process of choosing a new supreme commander gets under way here today and the choice may be known Tuesday.

The Associated Press has checked the countries involved, either through their representatives in Paris or through home officials.

Except for Britain, all those polled and willing to express a preference named Gruenther as first choice. The London report said "American sources feel Ridgway has an edge among British officials."

Most of them said that even though they preferred Gruenther, who is Eisenhower's chief of staff, they would not hesitate to accept Ridgway, the U. S. commander in Japan.

None of them expect or want other than an American in the job when Eisenhower goes home about June 1 to the United States, where he is being boomed for the Republican Presidential nomination.

The reasons given for this preference are:

One—Naming an American will get around problems of prestige and national rivalry which never bury themselves even among the best of international friends.

Two—America is putting up most of the cash, and the European countries feel also that having an American at the helm will maintain United States moral and financial commitments to the organization.

The North Atlantic Council meets here today to begin the procedure for naming a new commander.

Power To Oust Suspected Spies From Jobs Urged

Washington (AP)—The Administration may shortly ask Congress for legislation to permit the Defense Department to remove "suspected" subversives or potential saboteurs from defense plants.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Charles A. Coolidge, in a letter made public yesterday by a Senate labor subcommittee, said such a measure "is under study in the executive branch."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Humphrey, is studying the problem of Communist-dominated labor unions, particularly in defense industries.

Revolt Chances Slim In State

Pittsburgh (AP)—Inmates at two Pennsylvania prisons couldn't incite a revolt with the sort of success won by convicts at riot-torn Southern Michigan Prison.

There's been a standing order at Western State and Rockview penitentiaries for more than 25 years that in case of trouble, order will be restored without regard for the lives or safety of any prison official.

Those standing orders are known to all inmates and to all guards and officials when they go on the prison payrolls.

Record Vote Looms

District Rotarians Close Conference; Pittston Man Newly Elected Governor

Buck Hill Falls—Peter A. Garrity, Pittston, is district governor-elect of Rotary International of District 262 which yesterday completed its annual three-day conference at The Inn here.

Mr. Garrity will not assume his high post until after his election is formalized by the Rotary International convention this Summer.

Some 2,000 Rotarians from 37 community clubs and their wives attended sessions of District 262.

Final phase of the conference yesterday included a memorial service at 11 a. m.

Saturday the big event was a reception for Governor-elect Garrity and an address by Harold T. Thomas, international representative from Auckland, New Zealand, dealing with a descriptive of his native land.

Thompson spoke earlier in the conference along with Cameron Ralston, Utica, N. Y., lecturer.

Nicholas M. Rahn, member of the Mauch Chunk club, was presiding officer during the varied phases of the program. Mr. Rahn will relinquish his post as district governor when Mr. Garrity's election is affirmed by Rotary International.

East District Governor Walter S. Peeney played a prominent role in varied events, including panel discussions. Representations from the Stroudsburg, Mount Pocono and Pocono Mountains Rotary Club were heavy during the conferences.

William H. Wilhelm, Mauch Chunk, was Governor Rahn's conference chairman. Rev. John H. Lehn, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Mauch Chunk, was invocationist.

One of the colorful ceremonies involved presentation of 35 Rotary flags representing countries in which Rotary Clubs are located.

Letter to the Editor:

Until recent elections I was always under the impression that "representatives" were elected to represent the wishes of the people; and delegates to the National Conventions were elected to simplify representation of the people's choice for a Presidential candidate.

Instead of having a government "of the people, by the people, for the people"—we now find ballots which contain delegates names followed by such notations as "not committed." I'm quite sure that the basic principles of our democratic government were formed to be representative of the people's choice—not a few politicians choice. Seems to me if the delegates are to represent the people as they should—they are already committed to cast their nomination and electoral votes accordingly. Yet one Presidential candidate even has the audacity to undemocratically brag—and I quote from your paper, "the Ohio Senator contended he now has 25 of Pennsylvania's GOP delegates against 13—with the other 32 positively uncommitted." Such disregard of the people's choice by a candidate and the delegates is disgusting. No small wonder people are saying—"why vote?" I quote further, "the outcome didn't mean a thing because the delegates are not bound."

And where are the local committee men and women these days and what are they doing? Isn't it their job to round up qualified candidates for the various offices? In all too many instances one finds half the ballot empty—or worse yet—only one unopposed candidate's name. Again the question is raised—why vote when the ballot undemocratically contains no opposition—no choice and the candidate gets slipped into office regardless?

I propose that the representatives and delegates be made to represent the people as intended; and that the local committees who aren't active get busy and fulfill their obligations to the people. Let's have some ballots worth filling out and aim again in having a government which is "of the people, by the people and for the people."

Sincerely,
M. VAN SCIVER.

Free Booklet Tells How Deaf Hear Again With Startling Clarity, Ease

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by a noted Chicago acoustical scientist.

He reported that through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible to overcome deafness even if the loss is severe.

He demonstrated how the deaf can hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible.

According to this electronic engineer, Mr. Sam Posen of Belmont, "the longer a hearing loss is neglected, the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what may be done to help the deaf hear again with miraculous clarity, full authoritative details about deafness and how to overcome it are described in an informative, new, illustrated booklet, which will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 918-A, Belmont Hearing Aid Co., 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill. A postcard will do.

Ground Observer Corps Goes On Full-Time Status Next Month

County Unit Seeks More Plane Spotters

For the first time since 1943 and the peak of World War Two, civilian Ground Observer Corps members will be put on 24-hour duty beginning "on or about May 17," it was announced yesterday by Col. Harry A. Serfass, head of the Air Force ground-air observation corps in Monroe County.

This full-time duty brings to an end the corps' previous status as a training and standby unit. Supervisors and observers assigned to the ten observation posts in Monroe County will be placed on extensive, full-time duty, Serfass said, as a result of the Air Force's desire to place the nation's air defense potential in peak operation.

The 24-hour order applies to a 27-state area throughout the U.S. and will provide a constant low altitude surveillance in key regions throughout the country.

In preparation for its first full-time assignment, the county observer organization has scheduled meetings for May 7 and 8 which will be attended and supervised by officers from the Air Force.

A part of these meetings will be confined to actual visits to observer posts in Monroe County, during which time the Air Force will be given an on-the-spot example of their civilian ground personnel "in action."

A meeting Thursday night, May 8 in the main courtroom at the county courthouse, has been scheduled for all ground observer personnel and "other interested persons" including zone leaders in the county Civil Defense setup.

During that meeting, an Air Force officer who has received special training in liaison between ground-air posts and the military will attempt to explain the importance of civilian units in the defense organization.

Based on the aircraft warning service which operated during World War Two, the Ground Observer Corps (GOC) includes 19,400 observation posts and 49 filter centers in 36 states throughout the country.

As defined by official channels, the mission of the GOC is "to observe, evaluate and report to the radar network the flight of specified types of aircraft and unusual hostile actions associated with aircraft."

Under actual operation conditions this would mean that any one of the Monroe County posts upon sighting a type of aircraft on which an "alert" had been sent, would immediately notify one of Pennsylvania's two "filter centers"—at Pittsburgh or Harrisburg—of the movement of the aircraft, its description from the ground post and an accurate account of "any hostile movement" on the part of the craft.

In addition to Pennsylvania, 26 States have been notified of their cooperation in the May "24-hour alert" which will be designated by the code name—"Operation Skywatch."

These states are: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California.

All 26 State organizations were considered "ready by the Air Force to participate in the full-time schedule."

Strategically, the State setups alerted for the call on May 17, are located in coastal regions or along the border between this nation and Canada.

On the local level, Col. Serfass pointed out, "approximately 500 volunteer workers (including both men and women) will be needed to place the corps on a full-time basis."

Workers need not be specifically trained for a job as a part of the observer setup. "Anyone who can answer a telephone is qualified for a job with us," Col. Serfass added. "The responsibility for the local organization is split about evenly between the county defense outfit and the Air Force."

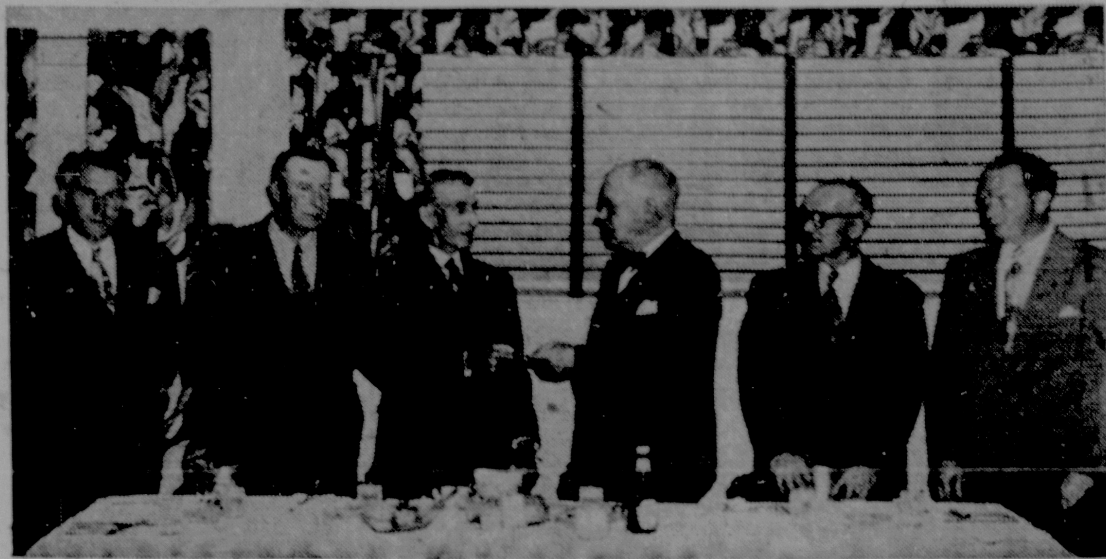

County funds finance the observer posts and Air Force officers provide the training necessary to turn workers into fully-qualified observers capable of spotting and identifying various types of aircraft.

There is at present, Col. Serfass emphasized, a definite need for more volunteers in the county organization. All interested persons are urged to contact the Civil Defense offices or attend the special meeting at the courthouse on May 8.

Monroe County's ten posts were not selected by local leaders but by the Air Force. Each of the ten is approximately eight miles apart—a standard rule in the setting up of posts throughout the nation.

Post leaders in the county are as follows:

Blakeslee, supervisor — George W. Silfies; Marshalls Creek, supervisor — George H. Allen; Brodheadsville, supervisor and chief observer — William H. Kresge; Pocono Lake, supervisor and chief observer — Charles Henning;

MEMBERS OF LOCAL 52 masons and plasterers attended a meeting at Johnnie's Pocono Summit Inn to honor Ben Slocum with a 50-year gold card in the union. ## Mrs. Davie Dies After Brief Illness

Mrs. Minnie V. Davie, 82, died in Hannan Hospital, Scranton, early yesterday morning after a brief illness.

Mrs. Davie was born in Portland and had spent most of her life in this area prior to moving to Dunmore a year ago.

Surviving are her husband, Henry, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Harry Snyder, formerly of Stroudsburg; one nephew, Russell Strunk, Utica, N. Y.; two nieces, Mrs. Beulah Taylor, Stroudsburg, and Miss Nettie Stem, Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Daniel G. Warner funeral home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Edward T. Huston officiating. Interment will be made in Stroudsburg mausoleum.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday after 7 p.m.

Car Carrier Climbs Wall

Delaware Water Gap—A big car carrier almost went over the stone retaining wall at Point-of-Gap here at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Instead of continuing the plunge to the railroad tracks below, the tractor of the vehicle remained suspended atop the wall. A tow truck soon hauled it back to safety.

The driver, Benjamin J. Veilletta, Cheektowatch, N.Y., climbed gingerly from his cab and dropped to the ground on the safe side of the wall. He was uninjured.

Police Chief Fred Decker halted east-bound trains of the Delaware Western and Lackawanna Railroad until the vehicle was safely off the wall and being towed to Delaware Water Gap. Damages were $450 to the tractor.

Chief Decker said the truck was driving north on Route 611 while one south-bound car was passing abreast. With the two cars abreast, the truck was squeezed to the right on the narrow highway.

The dual right rear wheels struck an eight-inch curb, and the impact threw the front end of the vehicle up and over the retaining wall. The two pleasure cars passed safely by.

Seizure Of The Press

President Truman told a press conference of newspaper editors that, in substance, it was not impossible for him to take over press and radio if it was what he considered best for the country, he raised a storm of criticism from members of both industries.

Mr. Truman may have been thinking of President Lincoln's difficulties with the press in the Civil War, and of the action taken against some newspapers during World War I.

In the case of Lincoln, General Burnside issued an order to the Chicago Times to suspend publication, and at the same time prohibited circulation of the New York World in his area of command, the Department of Ohio. Both papers had been severely critical of Mr. Lincoln.

Immediately the Illinois legislature, then in session, sent an official protest to Washington, and individual protests came from Republicans and Democrats alike. Lincoln, writing to Secretary of War Stanton, indicated disagreement with the drastic general order put out by Burnside, and it was withdrawn.

The World got into hot water again in 1864, when it and the New York Journal of Commerce were victims of a clever forgery purporting to be a presidential proclamation ordering a draft of 400,000 men. The document, implying failure of Grant's Virginia campaign, caused the President to order the arrest and imprisonment of the editors, proprietors and publishers of both newspapers, but satisfactory explanations were made and the order was rescinded in a few days.

But Lincoln was quoted as saying that "nothing but the very sternest necessity can ever justify such action. The government had better go to the very extreme of toleration."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—Former President Herbert Hoover's second volume of memoirs is on the bookshelves and it should be required reading for all the footloose bureaucrats meandering around

Washington this spring. Dealing with his years as a cabinet officer and as president, Mr. Hoover's book details with good humor the daily clash of personalities who seemed in those years to operate the nation's government with far less hair-brained activity than occurs today. And it might be added at this point that despite the propaganda-laced Mr. Hoover underwent, the problems he dealt with were of no less importance, or fewer in number, than those confronting the present administration. Now, however, each international exchange, each administration contact with Congress is a crisis, entailing the mobilization of administration mouthpieces and press agents to rally the nation to another phony emergency.

In recommending the Hoover memoirs to Washington bureaucrats, I particularly have in mind the Moscow stooges and economic planners who have convinced a new generation of Americans that they and they alone are to do the deciding in handling international relations. The fact is, however, that Mr. Hoover handled the Soviet Union, as an example, with all the patience and firmness that Secretary of State Dean Acheson and others are prattling about today. The difference, of course, is that Mr. Hoover was not outwitted at every turn in the process.

In 1921, just as during World War II, we were feeding, clothing and supplying machinery to the Russians. And just as during and since World War II, the Russians in the 1920's infiltrated the country and tried to take over control of our efforts. The difference is that today's Washington bureaucrats let them—were even anxious for the Russians to do so. It was different under Mr. Hoover's direction. The Russians were slapped into a corner where they belonged.

For instance, in 1921 the American people were not too enthusiastic about saving starving Communists, but various religious and governmental organizations could not resist the appeal for food for starving children who were their war. Mr. Hoover sought a coordination of Russian relief efforts governmental and religious. He didn't trust the Muscovites. But that didn't stop them from sending a Communist agent to Washington named Dubrowsky, who was instructed to disrupt church and government relief efforts. The Communists set up their own relief agency and started a drive for funds. Mr. Hoover in his book has the following pungent comment on the situation:

"There was no assurance of honest expenditure and I advised the public to support either us or some one of the religious bodies cooperating with us. At once I came under the usual rain of Left-Wing abuse. My critics, if I may use so mild a word, included many 'liberals' years afterwards. The fact that the funds raised by this Communist drive, amounting to more than a million dollars, was with the approval of the Soviet government, largely spent on Communist propaganda in the United States again demonstrating the ethics of the Left Wing and its devotion to the common man." Mr. Hoover notes, as an aside, that the American director of the Red drive for control was later executed for his failure.

Also, for the benefit of those with short memories, it is recalled in Mr. Hoover's writings that his administration established the good neighbor policy towards South America that later paid large dividends during World War II. He also placed government emphasis on international conferences—six between 1928 and 1932—at which many an ultimatum was delivered to foreign governments bent on territorial encroachment. By comparison, Acheson's wrist slapping notes today read like protests from the entertainment chairman of a fraternal lodge.

The Hoover administration ever since, however, has been labeled "isolationist," and these efforts, as well as Mr. Hoover's domestic reforms, have been adopted by successive administrations as original ideas. Of this Mr. Hoover does not complain, but simply points to the record.

President Truman, as he so frequently pointed out in his new book, "Mr. President," alludes to the crushing burden of his office today. Mr. Hoover was mighty busy, also, his memoirs reveal, and what he accomplished was done with considerably less fuss and almost no complaining. By comparison, his perception of his chores as president more than ever leave many things to be desired in current operations. The major difference is that Mr. Hoover saw his emergencies when they were shadows on the horizon.

In President Wilson's time, Postmaster General Burleson denied second class mailing privileges to two German language dailies, which the President considered going too far.

RFC Setback--Almost

The Senate last week missed a fine opportunity to strike a blow for less bureaucracy and less government in business.

On an afternoon it had tentatively voted 42 to 37 in favor of a bill to abolish the Reconstruction Finance Corp. But in the final showdown, it sent the RFC ripper back to committee 38 to 36.

But for a few straying senators, the bill probably would have been passed.

The RFC has been a "temporary" agency now for more than 20 years. Like most government agencies created to meet a special "temporary" situation, it has just kept rolling along.

And, like most agencies which outlive their usefulness, it got into trouble. Once its real need had expired, the RFC became an instrument for favoritism and political manipulation.

When President Truman finally was forced to clean house after the RFC scandals last year, his house-cleaning, W. Stuart Symington, soon proved the dispensability of the agency. By reducing RFC lending to a strict business basis, he whittled its loans to a fraction of their once giddy heights.

Keeping the RFC in business is an invitation to more politics and favoritism. By abolishing it, Congress at least could erase one source of those anti-taxpayer practices. jgYelidocFd

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights

Opening night! Olivia De Havilland, the celebrity, confronted the Broadway Cannibals and was devoured in one gulp. The Hollywood Star, who has won

Oscars for her attractive playing in the films, found out they have no real value on Broadway even when your play is Shaw's "Candida." The critical hand pounced on her with fang and claw notices, the most insulting set of reviews written in years. . . . Mr. Atkinson of the Times cushioned his snub with a gallant note: "Miss De Havilland is a beautiful, modest and sincere lady." Oddly, her "Candida" enjoyed a successful treasure hunt on the road. . . . The only other arrival was "To Be Continued," which very likely won't be. One of those Triangles that goes around in Circles. . . . The critics, regretted, that the lighthearted, knee-whimsey is shackled by a leaden script. Some praise was salvaged for the prettiness of the capable cast topped by Dorothy Stickney, Neil Hamilton and Lucila Gear. Critic Watts grumbled: "The result was considerably less than nothing."

In the Wings: The above mentions critic is the Very Same Mr. Watts who ad-libbed the following between acts of a long-ago flop: At intermission a conferee's bride said she and her husband were having fun. . . . "Whatcha doin'?" yawned Watts. "Holdin' hands?"

The Cinemagicians: Errol Flynn is back on the Broadway marquee, renewing his daredevil franchise in "Mara Maru." Nearly all the reviewers assailed it. . . . A pretty good shoot-to-kill-drama is "The Green Glove," in which Glenn Ford certifies that crime doesn't pay while Geraldine Brooks thefts his heart. . . . A British import titled "Maytime in Mayfair" is gifted with a tasty dish named Anna Neagle, who puts some tang in the musical cornet but fails to rescue it from mediocrity. . . . Alan Ladd is the latest rugged hombre to make the Wild West wild, via "Red Mountain." The Technicolor scenery is superior to the scenario. . . . "Colorado Sundown" offers several assassinations including the murder of exactly 67 minutes.

Stairway to the Stars: Hollywood's golden halo lifted Broadway's "Paint Your Wagon" into the financial heavens. The musical cost the producers $250,000. They peddled the screen rights for $200,000. . . . "The Shirkee," one of the several productions bearing Jose Ferrer's name, is another show to hit pay dirt swiftly. It repaid its 50 backers after only 8 weeks. . . . Leo McCarey lost his temper over the New York movie critics who didn't appreciate his "My Son John" film. He also fathered the wonderful "Going My Way," which they hugged. Mr. McCarey reminds you of the merciless truth: "We always remember the bumps and forget the caresses." . . . The suburban critics had a grim theatre week, too. . . . Variety's Albany delegate was indifferent to "The Happy Medium." He reported that it is not ready for The Big Town. . . . The New Haven man yawned out loud covering "For Crying Out Loud." His blackball: "The play stumbles through three acts of boredom."

The Aristocrats: Jimmy Durante and Bette Davis won the week's nonsense medals for their Noel Coward travesty. . . . The intelligence of "Mr. I. Magina-

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

An irate woman wrote a scathing letter to a New York newspaper about the bad grammar radio announcers use. "We thought in the old days, if we heard it on the radio, it was right," she said in her letter, "but not any more."

"We hear 'a hot cup of coffee,' 'a cold glass of beer,' 'so far as,' 'you did real good,' 'think of us doing that,' 'haven't seen you in a long while,' 'a friend of his father's,' 'three week vacation,' 'two pair of stockings.' "I don't know who is responsible for these mistakes, but I think it makes most other small-fry stanzas appear incoherent. . . . John Daly is the only one we've encountered (along the dial) who seems to know how to preside over a panel. Pleasant personality plus Authority. . . . "Studio One" rarely stumbles, but its British farce was more dull than droll. What hot! What hokum! . . . The consistent superiority of Ed Murrow's "See It Now" is something to applaud. The only television newscast gifted with showmanship zing. . . . There are uppity teevy dramas featuring scrappy reporters. Some are exciting but most of the yarns have been to press before. . . . You were lucky if you missed the hill-billy version of "Romeo and Juliet" on teevy. Strictly yawntertainment."

Stage Door: Martha Raye's Latin Quarter salary (Aug. 29th) will be $10,000 per. The highest in her career. . . . Betty Hutton, who collapsed backstage at the Palace, has a doctor standing by. . . . If Rita Hayworth or Vera-Allen sing in the film, the voice probably belongs to Anita Ellis. . . . The British income tax has broke. . . . Martin Block, the disc-jockey, was offered a "piece" of Johnnie Ray a year ago and rejected "the risk." . . . Hit Parade songstress Eileen Wilson picked seven winners (same day) at Jamaica. . . . Vic Danone, with the troops in Germany, will make $60,000 via recording royalties in 1952. . . . Doris Dowling, who was excellent in "Lost Weekend" (it won her stardom in "Bitter Rice," made in Italy), hasn't had a top Hollywood assignment since her return. . . . Truman Capote's "The Grass Harp" was a $100,000 fizzle.

The Questionnaires: During recent meetings of editors and publishers in New York, the matter of questionnaires addressed to General Eisenhower loomed large with forcible expressions on the subject. Some thought that he should answer questions; others that he should not.

Whether the questions are well worded or not, whether they are loaded or not is of little interest, because no matter what he thinks, can answer, as he chooses. Questionnaires are being composed by nearly everybody who owns a pencil.

Furthermore, all the arguments about General Eisenhower being in uniform are strictly eyewash, because he has been a candidate in uniform, whether he answers questionnaires or not; he has received delegations of American businessmen and politicians at his headquarters in Paris; he has commented, reservedly, it is true, on his victories in the primaries. He has received Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. and Paul G. Hoffman, whose meetings were strictly political and were so reported.

In a word, General Eisenhower has been political for many months, despite the uniform, in all phases of a pre-convention campaign, except in that phase which has dealt with an expression of opinion. There, of course, his embarrassment is great, because as a Republican he must be opposed to the President, but as a general, he is the President's subordinate. This paradoxical position surely cannot be prolonged after June 1 when he ceases to be the head of NATO.

It should never have been permitted. It would seem that a due sense of propriety should have impelled General Eisenhower to have resigned as soon as he authorized that his name be entered in his primary. The choice was his whether he would continue as an active general or become a politician, if there is a conflict, which is doubtful, because many of our top generals have been playing politics for years. General Eisenhower's choice to be both simultaneously is the cause for the questionnaires, particularly the "Knoxville (Tennessee) 21 Questions" which have received so much attention.

These questions were issued before they were answered, which some have criticized as discourteous; however, the questions themselves are important because they are so complete. They could be an outline for the platforms of both parties.

It is possible that the campaign by silence, which the Eisenhower strategists have decided upon, will not interfere with his getting the nomination. However, sooner or later, any candidate must speak his mind or be regarded as one who has no mind.

What many Republicans fear is that, even if nominated, Eisenhower will suffer during the election campaign from a lack of clarification of his position. This could lead to a Democratic victory. It is to be assumed that Eisenhower would, if nominated, speak his mind during the campaign, but the suggestion that he will not resign until nominated causes some to wonder whether he will not say that he will continue in uniform until elected.

The danger in this silence is greater to the country than to a political party. Under the American theory, no man is too important to seek the office of President of the United States. No man, whatever his accomplishments, lessens his stature by admitting that he is devoting himself to a campaign for his selection. Our leading men are not Chinese mandarins who publicly reject office while privately they labor to obtain it. Greater men than Dwight D. Eisenhower have campaigned for themselves for the Presidency.

Therefore, there can be no humiliation in his telling the citizens what he thinks. To do it by proxy is worse, however, than not to do it at all. The answers remain the proxy's views until they are accredited by the principal.

Many who ardently support General Eisenhower take the same view as his opponents on this subject. I have heard it said by some of General Eisenhower's supporters that they fear that the strategy of silence is particularly harmful, as affecting those who are on the fence, those who like Eisenhower and would support him but who wonder what Eisenhower likes.

My discussions with publishers and editors force upon me the conclusion that the campaign by silence reduces the political and intellectual stature of the general. If it is continued after June 1, it will be increasingly damaging to him.

No candidate for President can afford to be too proud to talk.

Some seconds later, Mrs. Tompkins called up to him, "George, don't you think that will be enough for one lesson?"

Hollywood—The restaurant was smart, snooty, air-conditioned—and crowded. Heads turned toward our little party of three—a press agent and Sylvia La Marr and me. You knew what those heads were thinking: "Look There's Joan Crawford!"

Only it wasn't Joan but her most remarkable double, Sylvia LaMarr has been Miss Crawford's stand-in and double for 10 years. "About 18 pictures, I guess," she smiled as we slid into a plush booth and the stars subsided.

In between Crawford pictures she stands in (and doubles for) Hedy Lamarr (the similarity in names is only coincidental). When doubling the Viennese beauty, Sylvia dyes her hair back to its natural black.

"Oh, how you're Hedy," her husband says then. When she goes back to Crawford, he says, "Now I've got Joan." He's Eugene Hollis, an electronics engineer, and they live in Burbank with a 7-year-old son.

Miss LaMarr's resemblance to Miss Crawford is more striking than to Hedy. She has big eyes (green, in contrast to Joan's blue), a similar straight nose, and frank, open expression. This thing of being taken for Joan is old stuff to her, of course.

A mob of young folks surrounded her at the Los Angeles Coliseum before a football game, clamoring for autographs. Sylvia's protestations that she was not Joan did no good; she finally had to call a cop.

Reception Is Held At Country Club

Pastel spring colors combined in the wedding of Miss Patricia Leine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Owens, of Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, to Michael Karpelenia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karpelenia, of Bethlehem, held Saturday afternoon at 4 at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the double ring ceremony before the altar where twin vases of white snapdragons and white pompons were flanked by branched candelabra holding white candles. Ernest Michel-felder was organist, and Stewart Henry, of Easton, was soloist. He sang a selection of wedding songs before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" as they knelt for the wedding prayers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin with a fitted bodice with long sleeves, and a boat shaped neckline filled in with net. Her full skirt had an apron bordered by Chantilly lace, and a cathedral length train. Her double veil of nylon net fell from a braided coronet of white satin, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and white sweetpeas.

Her sister, Miss Shirley Owens, was maid-of-honor, and Miss Louise Kokolias and Miss Mary Sue Stempier, both former classmates of the bride at St. Luke's Hospital, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical in style. They were strapless floor-length gowns of taffeta with net overskirts, with gathered net filling in the low necklines, and taffeta bolero jackets. They were matching picture hats of horsehair with matching ribbons. The maid of honor was in orchid and carried an arm bouquet of yellow carnations, while the brides-

Joan Dippre Is Bride Of R. P. Dean

Miss Joan Pauline Dippre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dippre of 11 Grandview Street, East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Richard Palmer Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Dean of 1836 Arlington Avenue, Stroudsburg, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon before the candlelit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, before the altar graced with white and pink snapdragons. Dorell Mader, baritone soloist of Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg, sang "For You Alone," "Because" and "I Love Thee" prior to the wedding and "The Lord's Prayer" during the wedding prayers as the bridal couple knelt before the altar on a white satin pillow. Miss Leila Bunnell presided at the organ which was decorated with snapdragons and gladioli.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of imported Swiss organza, over rayon taffeta, buttoned from its high neckline to the waist with tiny pearl buttons. Her full skirt terminated in a slight train and little butterfly sleeves, and she wore watching organza mitts. Her hat, which held her finger-tip veil of nylon net, was trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a white Bible on which lilies-of-the-valley were intertwined with petite silk bows.

Miss Barbara Ann Waltz was maid-of-honor. She was attired in a dark aqua gown of heavy satin with side panels of net and a net stole. Her accessories were white and she carried a bouquet of white and salmon-pink gladioli.

Al Andrews served as best man and Guy P. Dean III, brother of the bridegroom, and Howard Paul Dippre, cousin of the bride, were ushers. Paul Hoffman served as acolyte.

The bride's mother wore a black and white figured crepe street length dress with black linen bolero and matching accessories and a white rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a street length dress of Navy-blue crepe trimmed in white lace with black patent accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held for 100 guests in the social rooms of the parish house. The window sills were decorated with greens and peach blossoms. A four-tiered wedding cake, surmounted with a miniature bride and groom, was served. The punch bowl, centered on the buffet table, had a floating heart of ice. Lighted tapers and white and pink snapdragons graced the reception table. White and green streamers were woven across the reception hall.

Immediately after the reception the newlyweds left for a

Wedding Held At Shawnee Pres. Church

Shawnee-on-Delaware — The picturesque 200-year-old Shawnee Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Catherine Zahorika, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Zahorika, of 927 Ridge St., West Easton, to Earl Emmett Fish, son of Jay H. Fish, and the late Thelma Fish, of Shawnee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Bradburn, of the Shawnee church, assisted by Rev. Hubert Newton, of the Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Church, on Saturday afternoon at 3. The church was decorated with forsythia and blue iris and a lighted candelabra. Carole Cramer was organist and Margaret Kulp was soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her illusion veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and sweet peas.

Miss Marjorie Fadden of 193 East Brown St., East Stroudsburg, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of blue lace with a net skirt, and carried a colonial bouquet of violets. The two small flower girls: Melanie Walter, niece of the bridegroom, of Shawnee; and Frances Mondzek, niece of the bride, of Phillipsburg, N. J., both wore yellow taffeta gowns and carried sweet peas.

Elwood Walter was best man, and the ushers were Fred Walter and Harold Smith, all of Shawnee.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception for about 125 guests was held at Willow Dell before Mr. and Mrs. Fish left for their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a rose suit with navy accessories. On their return they will make their home at Shawnee.

Prior to her marriage the bride was on the staff of the Monroe County General Hospital. Mr. Fish is employed by H. L. Cleveland.

For an economical supper dish grind the tag ends of a baked ham and mix with a little tomato sauce and grated cheese; now fold in cooked egg noodles. Bake the mixture in a moderate oven until thoroughly hot and top is lightly browned.

Gym Team To Perform For Smithfield PTA

The Smithfield Parent Teachers Association will meet tonight at 7:30 at the school at Minisink Hills. An entertainment will be presented by the third grade and there will be an exhibition by the gym team as well as an exhibit of pupils' work.

At the business meeting, officers will be elected for the coming year. A prize will be awarded the room having the largest percentage of parents present, and refreshments will be served after the program.

Altar Society Nominates New Officers

At the April meeting, of St. Matthew's Altar and Rosary Society officers were nominated for the coming year. Mrs. Henry Heffele, chairman of the nominating committee, reported:

Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki, for president; Mrs. Adolph Oppel, vice president; Mrs. Paul Kennedy, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Hewitt, treasurer; and Mrs. William Hannas, financial secretary. Officers will be elected at the May meeting.

The May dinner committee met Friday night at the home of Mrs. J. L. Colonius, chairman to discuss plans for the dinner to be held in the school auditorium on May 14.

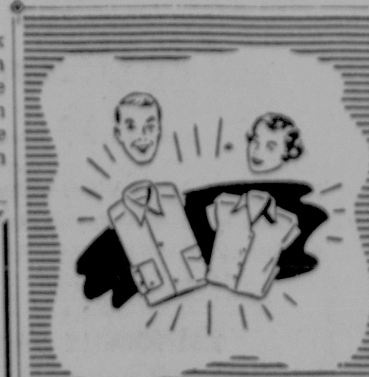

Mrs. George Rung presided at the meeting, opened with prayer by Rev. Harold Durkin.

The meeting was followed by a one-act comedy introduced by Mrs. Paul Kennedy and directed by Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki.

The hostess committee included Mrs. Charles Reah, chairman; Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Charles McCarthy, Mrs. Raymond O'Melko, Mrs. Edward Knob, Mrs. Thomas Leonard, Miss Clara Lombardi, Mrs. Adolph Oppel, Mrs. Walter Peeney and Mrs. Francis McGarry.

Study Group Tonight

Concert May 5 To Benefit Radium Fund At Hospital

A concert for the benefit of the radium fund of the General Hospital will be held on Monday, May 5, at Stroudsburg High School, featuring as soloist, Karen Kempel, radio, recording and concert singer, who in private life is Mrs. Allen Roth, of Stroudsburg RD3, as well as music by the Young People's Orchestra.

Sponsored by the General Hospital Auxiliary, proceeds from the concert will be used toward the radium fund at the General Hospital. Dr. Claus Jordan presented the first 50 milligrams of radium to the hospital, and the three hospital auxiliaries have each contributed $500, including the Barrett, Ann Logan and General Hospital Auxiliaries.

Through the concert next week, the auxiliary hopes to reduce the amount which must still be raised for administration of the radium which will enable all persons in Monroe County to receive treatment here when needed, rather than to travel miles to the city.

Tickets have been placed on sale at the hospital, at the Burrows Dress Shop and Flagler's Drug Store in Stroudsburg, and at Kresge's Drug Store in East Stroudsburg, or may be purchased at the door the night of the performance.

The Young People's Orchestra, under the direction of Thomas Knapp, includes in addition to its young people many experienced musicians and was warmly praised at its Winter concert. This will mark Mrs. Roth's first appearance before local audiences, and a large attendance is expected to hear her.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

After losing one hour of sleep and suffering through three days of incessant drizzle, everybody's disposition seems to be showing signs of mildew-around the edges.

Most peculiar thing—I've never noticed any difference that extra hour made in the fall. It just seems to be absorbed without much commotion.

But that hour we miss in the spring keeps haunting us all week long. Nobody goes to bed or gets up on time. Supper is always late because the light fools you.

However, if you're mood needs brightening just bethink you of the weekend weddings, with neither brides nor bridegrooms paying the least attention to the weather.

And each wedding with its own particular charm. The salad at Pat Leine's wedding reception, for instance, with its inscription to "Pat and Mike."

And did you notice that two of our brides were on the staff of the General Hospital?

And how about the ice in the form of a floating heart in the punch bowl at Joan Dippre's wedding.

Oh there are plenty of pretty memories of the weekend, but I wish it would clear up before our memory of what the sun looks like fades.

Mrs. Coolbaugh Is Honored At Baby Shower

A baby shower in honor of Mrs. Ben Coolbaugh was held on Friday night at the home of Mrs. Elmer Storm, 145 Greene St., Stroudsburg.

Guests included Mrs. Ralph Speiser, Mrs. Henry Peters, Mrs. Russell Swartz, Mrs. Kenneth Meisell, Mrs. William Young and Miss Grace Miller.

There's no doubt about it, Wyckoff's has EVERYTHING... even Sunbeams on a rainy day. In this particular case, the Sunbeams were eight and nine year old Junior Girl Scouts, an organization sponsored by the Salvation Army. All day Saturday they darted here and there in the store, busily competing with our own well-stocked candy department as they sold chocolates to raise money for uniforms. In their crisp gray dresses and caps, and bright yellow ties, they were a pretty sight, and their merit badges attested to the work they are doing in subjects pertaining to home, religion and patriotism. Among those with whom I talked were Edna Pugh, Alberta Sargent, Bertha Hellman, Cheryl VanWhy, Nina Hineine, and Donna Woodvatt. The girl selling the most candy, they tell me, will win a trip to camp, an honor that went to curly headed Cheryl last year.

Every day brings a sheaf of letters from those who have seen our Wyckoff advertisements and recognize the values highlighting our anniversary observance. Our "long distance shoppers" are interested in such items as the Rummage leather goods, those handsome "salesman samples" that are going for half price in our men's department; the 45 gauge nylons selling at a lowly three pairs for $2.27; and the knitting bags that are well made and lined—a surprisingly fine value at 87c. One of my own best buys has been the 59c handkerchiefs by Burmel which are anniversary priced at two for 77c. Another good buy... a special purchase made through our New York office by Edith Pennington... is the batiste, eyelet-trimmed nightie in pastel colors now being shown in our lingerie department at $2.98. These are cut more generously than most nighties in that price range, and are a particularly fine value if you have one eye on the price tag and the other on style.

I noticed that many newcomers, bringing Welcome Wagon cards into our store, select as their gift the colored glassware from Sears which may be used either in the oven or refrigerator. It also looks well right on the table. The latest thus "gifted" was Mrs. Truman Burnett, who discovered that she and the sales lady, Lettie Thomas, hail from the same section—Willow Grove... Don't forget our date tonight—the Easy Dough auction at 7:30 in the parking lot.

Empire Box Corp. Awards Emblems To 22 Employees

Presentation of crown emblems to 22 employees of the Empire Box Corp. plant at Minisink Hills featured the sixth annual company banquet Saturday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Sixteen employees have employment records of 10 years; six of five years. Framed scrolls were awarded to six employees with records of six years each without accidents resulting in loss of time.

Stanley J. Klein, president of the corporation, was honored at the banquet at South Bend, Ind., headquarters of the organization, when he was presented with an emblem representing 30 years of service.

Mr. Klein received a silver desk set surmounted with the crown emblem of the corporation from heads of the three plants, with messages of good will.

The corporation has three plants, at South Bend, Minisink Hills and also Garfield, N. J., and employees of all of them gather in their respective communities at the same time.

Because the local plant was established ten and a half years ago, the banquet Saturday night was the first opportunity of honoring the 10-year employees. There are a total of 26 five-year men, the six most recent receiving their emblems at the dinner.

Samuel L. Neidorf, the vice president, extended the welcome, told of the high production record of the plant and fine spirit of co-operation, and presented Raymond E. Stearns, executive vice president of the corporation, who in turn placed the emblems on the

Anniversary Services Open At St. John's

The 85th anniversary of the founding of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen, pastor, was observed at both services yesterday and will be concluded Wednesday night at 7:30 with special programs.

The minister at the morning service was Rev. Paul L. Yount, D.D., pastor emeritus of Holy Trinity Church, Norristown, grandson of Rev. Dr. D. M. Henkel, the first pastor of the congregation.

The altar flowers were in memory of Mrs. Hiram E. Fisher, by husband and family, while those in the chancel vases were placed by the organizations sponsored by the Altar Guild honoring the memory of departed pastors.

The church choir presented two numbers at the morning service and one at night with Robert H. Cathcart, director, at the console.

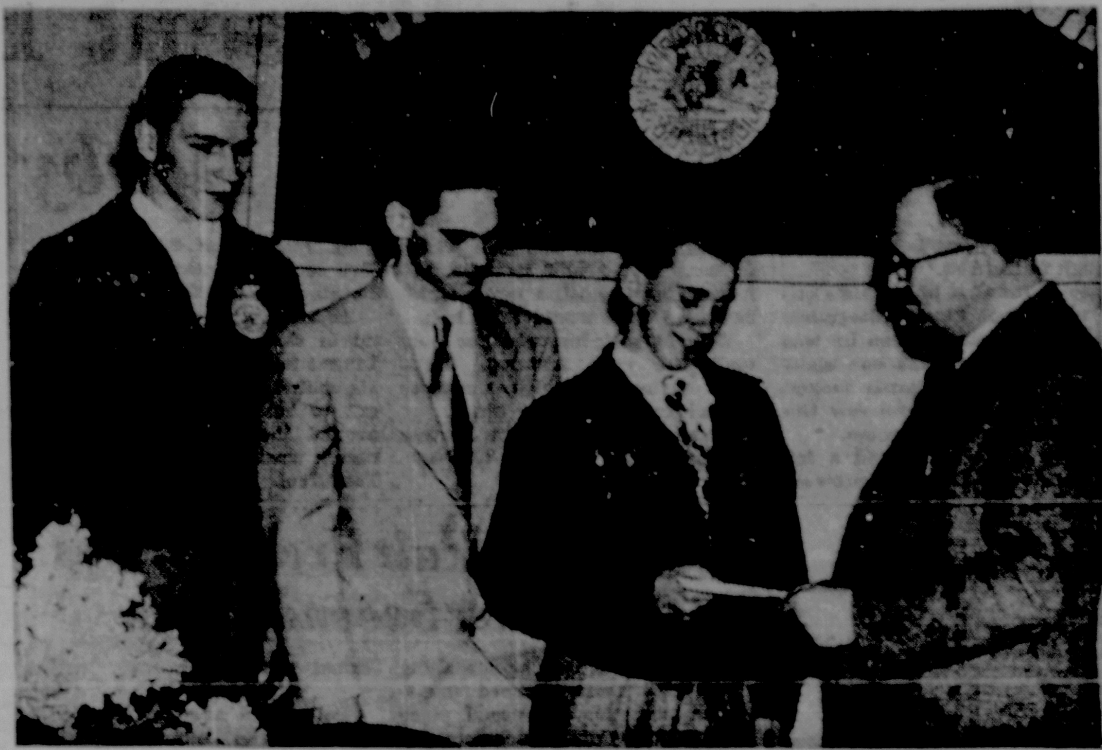

Dr. Yount was reminiscent in his remarks and combined humor with his spiritual logic. He told of the pleasure in being invited to participate in the service and recalled as a small boy calling on his grandfather, Dr. Henkel, then pastor of the church. Tribute was paid Dr. Wohlsen, college classmate and long personal friend.

The speaker stated that in the two years of his retirement he has preached every Sunday in churches of all denominations, humorously remarking that "many preachers become ill Saturday nights."

He described the idealistic church as one that is beautiful as is St. John's, the church filled with people regardless of weather conditions, the thankful church, the generous church, and the church where we find God.

Evidence of his activity, despite advanced years, he drove from Stroudsburg to Williamsport, where he was scheduled to preach last night.

St. Peter's Church, Allentown, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wohlsen, based his sermon last night on the Book of Numbers: "From thence they went to Be-er, that is the well of which God spoke unto Moses, saying, gather the people together and I will give them water."

Pastor Wohlsen likened the experience of Israel and God providing the well for the need for the water in this community 85 years ago when He caused a well to be dug here to become a well of living water pouring forth the expression of life for the souls of men, which is the history of the congregation furnishing the water of life for men.

Mrs. Jean Ann Wolbert was the soloist.

The anniversary celebration will come to a close Wednesday night at 7:30 when Rev. Frank H. Blatt,

War Captives Entitled To Compensation

All American prisoners of World War Two under public law 303, 82nd Congress, which amends the War Claims Act of 1948, are entitled to compensation of $150 a day for the time they were subjected to uncompensated forced labor and inhuman treatment while in enemy captivity, according to Howard Mount, head of the Veterans Affairs office, 615 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

Mr. Mount said that in World War Two approximately 132,000 American service men and women were taken prisoners by the enemy, most of whom received an award of one dollar a day. Since they were not issued food and rations during their captivity, as required by the Geneva Convention of 1929 respecting the treatment of prisoners of war, the deadline for this benefit was March 31, 1952. The deadline for filing claims under the new law is April 9, 1953.

It will be necessary to file new claims to establish benefits under the new law, Mount pointed out. The forms are now being prepared and will be available in the near future at the Veterans Affairs office, Stroudsburg, or major veterans organizations.

The director of Veterans Affairs said that to obtain adjustments, the claims must be made on official forms and those who are entitled should wait until these forms are available.

Mr. Mount said the Veterans Affairs office will assist any veteran who is eligible for these benefits.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Crowe's Insurance finished fifth in the Delaware Valley Bowling League during the past campaign and at no time seriously threatened to complete the season on top of the heap. However, it was revealed at Saturday's annual league banquet that this same team, although with several different faces and carrying the Central Labor Union name, is the only club in the circuit to have won the league title twice during the past five years. This year's banquet was held at the Bethlehem Maennerchor, in Bethlehem.

The other clubs to win the title just once during the past five seasons were the Philadelphia Elks, Dainty Potato Chips and Capuro's Cities Service, the club that took home all the marbles during the past campaign. It was also revealed that Jake Nitel, who was second in the circuit's individual average race during the past season has won the same title three times in the past five years and on six occasions during the 15-year history of the league. Jake had a streak of three straight average titles before bowing to Capuro's Doug Hawk by an eyelash this year.

Even while finishing fifth Crowe's contingent featured a kegger, in the person of Nitel, who deadlocked for first place in the high single game department, with a 279 count. Dyke Firth, of the Fleas Club, also rolled a 279 game to tie Nitel. Nitel finished the season with a 191-60 average, while Hawk was first with a 192-3 mark, while Charley Stransbury, of the Elks, was a close third with a 191-37 tabulation. Hawk, a former professional golfer who has had his amateur status restored, was honored with a beautiful trophy for his fine feat of bowling.

In addition to Nitel, other averages on Crowe's squad included Jack Darr, 180-63; Frank Laise, 179-29; Dick Andrews, 178-32, and Johnny Javitt, a straight 167 mark. Hawk, in addition to winning the high average race, also came through with the high three-game total of the season, on the strength of a 729 count. An odd feature in the 1951-1952 individual average race is the fact that the first three men in the final standings have won the title at least once during the past five years, Nitel having turned the trick three straight times, while Hawk and Stransbury own one crown respectively.

Crowe's club rallied in the late stages of the campaign and for a matter of three weeks put on a display of power that appeared destined to carry the Monroe County contingent even higher in the final standings. However, Nitel and company had the misfortune of running into the highest scores of the season all year. Dainty Potato Chips had a high match count of 3,045 pins and a single game of 1,075 pins and both were rolled against Crowe's Insurance. It's odd that this same team held the exact same titles in the 1950-1951 race.

Firth's 279 single high was rolled against Crowe's squad, as was Hawk's high match of 729 pins. Any scores that were records, high for the season or even near-high seemed to be rolled against the East Stroudsburg team that holds its home games at the Pocono Bowling Center. Crowe's club was further handicapped by the fact that it enjoyed some of its best matches at the same time that other teams were rolling by far their best matches of the season. The result was that the Monroe County entry lost several matches that it would have ordinarily won.

The entire gathering of nearly 200 people were made sad by the announcement that Les Ward, league secretary, would retire from his position and his place as a bowler in the Delaware Valley League. Although no official action was taken on Ward's remarks, the manner in which they were delivered made it sound as if the veteran kegger meant every word he issued. Ward claimed that he was over the hill as a bowler and that it was time for him to step out, although the decision was a hard one for him to make. Ward was a member of the Drucker and Young team during the season recently ended.

A feature of the banquet was the showing of bowling movies, during which each team was able to see itself in action in at least one match during the 1951-1952 campaign. The film was prepared by Joe Pasch, captain of the Drucker and Young team, with the financial backing of the league. The new twist met with the approval of all those present, especially when an opportunity to kid a rival kegger presented itself. Mr. and Mrs. Walter McClelland, of Stroudsburg, were on hand as official representatives of Crowe's Insurance, as Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe was unable to be present.

The banquet brought down the curtain on the 1951-1952 season for the league, which in the words of Chet Butler, the Lehigh Valley's bowling expert, is the major league of all the bowling circuits in the area.

Weather Puts Crimp In Penn Relays

Philadelphia, (AP)—There really isn't any basis for comparison between the performers of the cold, wet, mud-soaked Penn Relay athletes and the sun drenched kids in shorts who compete at the Drake Carnival over the weekend.

But just for the sake of argument in an Olympic year, and for the benefit of track and field fans who have a slide rule that takes mud into account, here is the yearly breakdown of facts and figures on the two extravaganzas.

Rain
As might be expected, an unceasing four day rain slowed most of the Penn running events down to a walk. On the other hand, Drake runners had a field day under ideal weather conditions, smashing eight records, including two American college marks.

Kansas runners clipped the America two mile relay team record with sensational 17:15.9, and bettered the record of 17:16.2 set at the Penn Relays in 1937 by Indiana University.

Deviney cracked a two-year-old standard in the hurdles of 52.7 set by Lee Hofacre of Minnesota at Drake in 1948.

Michigan's heralded four-mile relay team had the sloppy track to contend with and found itself a victim of a judge's error. The event was moved to the dryer inside track and in doing so the officials miscalculated the starting distances so that each man ran 101 yards less than a mile. Michigan was clocked in 16:32.2 for the odd distance.

North Texas State Teachers College broke Drake meet records in both the quarter and half mile relay races, but didn't have too much of an edge on Manhattan, winner of both these events at Penn. The quarter as against Manhattan's teachers were clocked in 4:17 for 42 seconds, and in 1:25.8 for the half against 1:26.2.

Bettors Mark
Athlete Christian bettered the Drake Mile Relay record with a 3:15.4 performance, while Howard Payne also clipped a Drake mark by taking the distance medley in 10:15.0.

Individual running events found James Golliday of Northwestern winning the Drake Invitation 100-yard dash in 09.7, only two-tenths of a second faster than Art Bragg, 1951 NCAA champion from Morgan State ran at Penn; the Invitation mile saw Dewey Johnson of Drake a winner in meet record time of 4:14.5, and Denis Johanson, Finn from Purdue the Penn victor over Fred Wilt and Don Gohmann in 4:18.2.

Sam Felton, National AAU hammer throw champion smashed an American record with his 183 foot, two and three-eighths inch toss at Penn. Drake has no hammer event.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College finished third in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College mile relay, behind West Chester and Cheyney on opening day.

A mud soaked track also hampered this event.

Maroon Seeks Undefeated Season
Easton—Art Winters, coach of the Lafayette College track team, expects quite a bit of help from freshmen and sophomores this spring as the Maroon team seeks its third straight undefeated season in dual competition.

Winters has a number of promising newcomers, some of whom he expects to become consistent point producers as the season progresses.

Three freshmen expected to pick up quite a few points are John Schaff, of Elborn, N. J., a distance runner; Edwin Forrest Jr., of Conshohocken, a sprinter, and Harry Eaton, of Short Hills, N. J., who is strong in field events.

Top Performer
Schafer at present is the top performer in the mile and two miles, while Forrest looks good in the 220 and quarter mile. Eaton will participate in the shotput, discus and javelin events.

Other freshmen showing promise include Henry Everding, of Syracuse, N. Y., in the sprints; Laning Harvey, of Dallas, Pa., in the broad jump; Walter Frey, of Lyndhurst, N. J., in the quarter mile; Stanley Applebaum of Staten Island, N. Y., in the half-mile and mile; Willard Snyder, of Forty-Fort, in the mile; Charles Stroud, of Tarentum, Pa., two miles, and Bill Krauss, of Elkins Park, in the pole vault.

Cousin Acts Like Mule -- But May Win Derby

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—The problem child of the Kentucky Derby by all accounts is Cousin, a cussed critter that may jump the fence, or play dead, or win it all.

Cousin's handlers plan to start him Saturday in the 78th running of the Derby even if they: One—Have to tug him to the starter with a farm tractor.

Two—Goad him into the gate with a bulldozer.

Three—Blast him out of the barrier with a firecracker.

"This horse isn't what you would say crazy," says his trainer, Bill Winfrey. "He is what you would say contrary."

Cousin will surprise nobody in the Derby, no matter what he does.

"He's fast enough to win it," says Winfrey, "but he's stubborn enough to run last."

One of the first hints that Cousin might not be an altogether normal horse came when he was a yearling. That was one night when a farm watchman looked up from his papers and saw the horse standing in his room.

Cousin had been petted a lot and was spoiled in the process.

His dam, My Auntie, died when he was foaled and he was fed from a bottle until a mare could be found that would take him.

Winfrey took him when he was ready for race training. He's been trying to solve Cousin's mental capacities ever since.

"I've been working with horses a great many years," Winfrey said.

Kansas Ace Shines In Drake Relay

Des Moines, (AP)—Wes Santee, a lean led from the Kansas prairies who runs away from his rivals, did the same thing in a poll to select the outstanding performer in a record-smashing Drake Relays field.

The 19-year-old University of Kansas miler was nearly a unanimous choice among newspaper and radio men for the honor. He received 32 votes and one went to Henry Cryer who ripped off a 1:50.3 half-mile as he anchored Illinois to a new American collegiate mark of 7:31.6 in the two-mile relay.

Helpful
Santee, who turned to running because there wasn't much else to do for recreation on his family's wheat ranch in Southern Kansas, also helped establish a new American mark. The sophomore star, overcoming a handicap of at least 40 yards, ran an unofficial 4:07.5 anchor mile to carry the Jayhawks to a 17:15.9 mark in the four-mile relay Friday.

Wes came up with another sizzling job Saturday to pull the Kansas distance medley team to a new Drake record of 10:01.8 in the distance medley. One watch caught Santee's finishing mile in 4:07.4.

Lafayette Risks Title Chances

Easton—The campaign of the Lafayette College baseball team for the District One NCAA title may be decided this week, when the Maroon meets three of the top opponents of the season.

Today, Lafayette will meet Temple here and on Thursday will travel to New Haven, Conn., for a game with Yale. Saturday, the first of the annual two-game series with Rutgers will be played here.

It is the Rutgers game that Charley Gelbert, Lafayette coach, would like to win most, for the Scarlet has swept the series with the Maroon for the last three years. Last year Rutgers and Lafayette played three games and Rutgers won all three to make it seven in a row over the Maroon.

Leading Contender
Rutgers, also, is a leading contender for the district championship, which it won last year.

Victories over Temple and Yale also will go a long way in helping the Maroon, although Yale is not in District One.

Gelbert has his pitching staff set for the three contests, with Bob Ketchell, tall right-hander, probably going on the mound against Temple; Fred Kroog, another right-hander, against Yale, and Ronald Owen, freshman southpaw, against Rutgers.

Kroog and Owen have been doing some sensational pitching this spring. Kroog, a senior from Glen Ridge, N. J., allowed only one earned run in 24 innings, and Owen only one unearned run in 18 innings. Ketchell has looked good in his three appearances on the mound.

Hershey Team To Be Selected

Hershey—Members of the Hershey Community Club golf team will be selected during a qualifying round at the Hershey Park Golf Club on Saturday, May 10, Ralph L. Hoar, director of the club, announced yesterday.

Community Club members planning on trying out for the team, which will be comprised of 16 golfers, are urged to register at the Park Golf Club on or before Wednesday, May 7, so that pairings can be arranged for the qualifying round.

Eight Matches
Eight matches are being arranged by director Hoar, who announced that the opening match will be played with the Bethlehem Steel team of Sparrows Point, Md., at the Sparrows Point Country Club on Sunday, May 18.

Reds Sweep Pair From Pirates To Take Over Second Place

Cincinnati (AP)—The surprising Cincinnati Reds grabbed undisputed possession of second place in the National League yesterday as Ken Raffensberger and Frank Hiller pitched them to 8 to 2 and 1 to 0 victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The pair of defeats extended the Pirates' losing streak to nine games. The Reds now have won seven of their last eight contests.

Outburst
Cincinnati locked up the first game early with a third-inning six-run outburst that was highlighted by Johnny Wyrostek's three-run triple but the only run of the night-cap wasn't scored until the last of the ninth.

Howie Pollet and Frank Hiller matched brilliant scoreless pitching until that frame but Pollet got into trouble early in the inning. Ted Kluszewski opened with a single but was cut down at the plate when he tried to score as Ralph Kiner let Bob Borkowski's single get through him for an error.

Borkowski went all the way to third and then came home as Roy McMillan's fly to Kiner after Joe Rossi had been given an intentional walk.

First Game
Pittsburgh .010 100 000-2 9 1
Cincinnati .006 000 11x-8 10 0

Second Game

Minoso's Single Gives Chisox Nod Over Browns In Marathon

Chicago, (AP)—Minnie Minoso singled Nellie Fox home with the clinching run in the fourteenth inning yesterday, to give the Chicago White Sox a 7-6 decision over the St. Louis Browns, in the longest game of the season.

Near Record
A total of 38 players was used, only one short of the American League record, during the four hour struggle before 42,000 fans—largest crowd ever to see a White Sox-Brownie game. Eddie Robinson's two-run homer in the last of the ninth, tied it up for the Sox after they had knocked out Ned Garver on five singles and four runs in the fifth to become the first team to score off the little right hander in 22 and one-third innings this season.

In the nightcap of a double-header the White Sox were ahead 3-1 after Sherm Lollar's three run homer before the game was suspended after five innings because of darkness.

The second game will be played July 3 from the point it left off yesterday.

First Game
St. Louis .030 000 300 000-6 14 1
Chicago .000 004 002 000 01-7 20 1

Second Game

Chicago .000 30-3 4 0

Bangor Meets Copley

Bangor—A Lehigh-Northampton League baseball game between Bangor and Copley High Schools, rained out last Friday, will be played on the Copley field today, if the weatherman permits. The contest is slated to get underway at 4 p.m.

The girls' tennis team was slated to play host to New York University on the Normal Hill courts, but the weatherman washed the meeting off the books. Coach Mary Whiteight announced last night that a new date hasn't been definitely set.

Baseball
Coach George Ockershausen's ESSTC baseball club, sporting a record of one victory and a single deadlock, was also forced to sit out Saturday's scheduled contest with Scranton University, in Scranton.

The two schools will now clash a week from today, also at Weston Field, at 3 p.m.

ESSTC plays Panzer College on Wednesday, at East Orange, N. J., at 3 p.m. Bob Mellman is scheduled to pitch for the East Stroudsburg nine.

Commissioner Of Scranton Area To Speak

William Jacobs, commissioner of Little League baseball in Scranton, will be the featured speaker at today's annual East Stroudsburg Little League banquet, to be held at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, as part of the regular Exchange Club meeting. The meal is scheduled to be served at 6:30 p.m.

This is the second year that Little League baseball has been officially played in East Stroudsburg and it is also the second year that this official Little League banquet has been held, as a send-off to the youngsters who campaign in the circuit last year and to those who will see action during the coming season.

Jacobs is expected to speak on the foundation of Little League baseball, its future, its past and the good points of the game as far as the growing youth of the community is concerned.

Movies
It was also learned last night that the new 1952 Little League baseball film will also be shown following the actual banquet session.

Plans for the new field and the coming season are expected to be discussed at the affair, in addition to the fund raising campaign, which at the present time is at its halfway mark.

The goal for the fund drive is $3,000, which will cover the remainder of the new field expenses. The drive will also put the league on a solid financial footing, if it proves successful.

C. A. "Phiz" Nauman is president of the league.

Golfers To Play Hogan

New York—The year's most unusual golf event comes up to the tee on Saturday, May 31, when an estimated 300,000 golfers throughout America will each play an 18-hole round against the U. S. Open Champion, Ben Hogan.

During this unique one-day tournament, to be known nationwide as "National Golf Day," Hogan will match woods and irons with every golfer—man, woman or youngster, "duffer" or expert. Each challenger is permitted his present bona fide handicap rating.

Playing under USGA rules, Hogan will shoot an 18-hole round at the Northwood Club, Dallas, Texas, scene of the forthcoming 1952 National Open.

Target
Simultaneously, on the fairways of the nation's 4,970 public and private courses, America's weekend golfers and their pros will try to beat Ben's round.

The contestants that do will be awarded a specially-cast bronze medal inscribed "I Beat Ben Hogan, National Golf Day, May 31, 1952." National Golf Day is co-sponsored by Life magazine and the Professional Golfers Association, in conjunction with the Western Golf Association. The required $1.00 entry fee for each contestant will be donated by the sponsors in its entirety, in equal shares, to the USO and the "National Golf Fund."

This fund will be administered by PGA officials, representatives of various national golf associations and golf publications, as well as outstanding amateur golfers.

No part of the proceeds will be retained by Life or the PGA, nor used in any way in helping to defray expenses of the tournament.

Fire Causes $5,000 Loss At Effort

Effort—Fire partially destroyed a cottage owned by Mrs. Laura Mitchell here at 9:15 p. m. Saturday.

No one was home when the fire started, according to West End Fire Co. Chief Amzi F. Altomere. Preparations had been made for removal of belongings, as the residence was up for sale.

Fire apparently shot up through the first floor partitions and emerged into a sealed attic above the study-and-a-half dwelling.

Some 35 volunteers fought the blaze until 2 a. m. About half the house was destroyed, with an estimated damage of $5,000.

Youth Hurt In Accident

Tobyhanna—James Sopko, 19, Mountainhome, suffered head injuries in a traffic accident at 9 p. m. yesterday on Route 611 here.

Sopko was taken to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, by ambulance. The extent of injury was not disclosed last night.

Mount Pocono State police said the driver of one car was Newton H. Seese, 19, Canadensis, with Jay Hoover, 18, also of Canadensis, as a passenger. The Seese auto was towed to Mount Pocono.

Lehigh Coal Co. Income Up 18%

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co. yesterday reported an increase in net income of almost 18 per cent for the first quarter of 1952.

Robert V. White, president, said much of the increase was the result of the company's anthracite mining subsidiary with its "more colder weather in March" also boosted the subsidiary's business, he added.

The consolidated net income for the first three months of 1952 was $298,452, compared with $253,595 for the same period of last year.

Commissioners today will complete the official count of votes cast at last week's primary elections.

The canvassing was begun on Friday and finished on Saturday, commissioners said. The only thing left to be done is completion of the tally sheets. The official returns showed no upsets, according to Chief Clerk Harry Taylor.

Mrs. Rehrig, Formerly Of Bangor, Dies

Bangor—Mrs. Nellie Miller Rehrig, widow of Dr. J. Edward Rehrig, died Saturday in Allentown. The Rehrigs were formerly of Bangor.

Mrs. Rehrig was a native of Bangor, the daughter of the late John C. and Ella Johnson Miller. She was a member of St. John's Reformed Church, Bangor, and the Bangor Senior Women's Club.

She was a graduate of Bangor High School, class of 1902 and of Blair Hall, Blairtown, N. J.; the Washington College for Women, Washington, D. C.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Peppel, Washington, D. C.; three grandchildren; one brother, J. C. Miller, Bethlehem.

Rev. John Carter Installs New Officers Of WSCS

Delaware Water Gap—A candlelight installation service was held last night at the Delaware Water Gap Methodist Church when Rev. John Carter installed the officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

He gave an individual charge to each of the officers who lighted their candles from the altar candle, and repeated together their promise of service.

Officers installed were Mrs. George Brochman, president; Mrs. Fred Shoemaker, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Nelson Lightner Sr., secretary; Miss Reva Schroeder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Rapp, treasurer, and Miss Nellie Burd, secretary of spiritual life.

Mrs. Layton Osborne read the aims of the Women's Society, and Mrs. Brochman stressed the spiritual aims of the society in church attendance, interest in missions and bringing new members into the church.

A social hour followed in the Sunday School rooms.

Locust Swarms Eclipse Sun

Jerusalem, AP—Swarms of locusts eclipsed the sun over Israel yesterday, then settled down in the Judean Hills near Jerusalem, in the mountains of Galilee, in the southern desert and on the coastal plain.

The Israeli radio broadcast warnings steadily, but informed observers said the insects were settling down to lay eggs. Army planes are standing by ready to spread poison, and the agriculture department hopes it will be possible to destroy the new locusts as they emerge from the eggs, in about a fortnight.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to appeal to your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

600 Attend Concert At G-D-S School

Newfoundland—A capacity crowd of over 600 persons filled the Green-Dreher-Sterling High School auditorium here Friday night to hear the fourth annual Spring concert presented by the department of music of the school.

They came away with the realization that they had listened to one of the finest programs of instrumental and vocal music ever heard in this area.

The program, under the direction of music supervisor Harold Wild, featured a short concert by the recently-organized junior band, selections by the 38-voice high school girls' chorus, the high school band and a number of small groups and soloists.

The concert marked the end of Wild's tenure here. He has submitted his resignation to the local board of education and will accept a position as director of instrumental music in the Millersville, Pa., schools.

During his five years here, Wild trained the personnel and organized the senior band, now recognized as one of the finest small high school bands in northeastern Pennsylvania, and last fall began a similar project with 41 pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

This was the junior band's initial public appearance. They played six numbers, which ranged from marches to hymns, displaying a high degree of musicianship and poise for a group in training only six months.

Highlight of the high school band's program was the playing of Sibelius' "Finlandia," definitely the high point in the steady advance of the type of music the organization has added to its repertoire during the five years of its existence.

The complete senior band concert follows: "Them Bases," a march; "Cracker Jacks" featuring a trumpet trio of Ross Smith, Paul Gilpin and Helen Olsson; "Finlandia"; "Ambassador March" and "Transcontinental March" spotlighting the band's majorettes, Carol Hart, Janet Singer, Charlotte Robacker and Carol Akers. Clarence Roeger, student conductor, was on the podium for baton-twirling numbers.

"Lady of the Lake" featuring clarinet soloist William Hahn; "Roumanian Rhapsody"; "Thine Alone"; "On the Mall"; "Songs of Faith"; "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The girls' chorus sang Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Surrey With The Fringe On Top"; "Little David, Play On Your Harp"; "The Lost Chord"; "Younger Generation"; "Old King Cole" and "God Bless Our Land." Charlotte Robacker was the accompanist.

Soloists were Evelyn Brodowsky, accordion, who played "Dizzy Fingers" and soprano Georgia Bewley. Miss Bewley sang "Desert Song" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery Of Life." Nancy Rohrbach was the accompanist.

Junior majorettes, who performed a routine during the junior band's portion of the program, were Barbara Urdel, Linda Garey, Jane Rigby and Margaret Hibbs.

Gold often is found in rocks so old that they contain no fossils or very few fossils, indicating they were formed before life existed on earth or during the very early development of life.

The reason, which in the judgment of the Board of Directors necessitates the tax, is that the present revenues of the District are insufficient to pay salary increases of the teaching staff and to pay the increased costs of operation.

The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is the sum of $250.00.

By Order of the Board of Directors of Hamilton Township School District.

MRS. CORONA KEISER, Pres.
MRS. BERTHA C. YOUNG, Secy.

Search For Fisherman Continues

Milford State police yesterday continued their search for the body of Cpl. John Genetsky, 22, Wilkes-Barre, drowned in the Lackawanna River near Kimbles, Pike County, Friday.

The furloughed soldier slipped from the river bank and was swept to his death in the rushing river while three friends watched helplessly.

Yesterday police, aided by volunteers, trugged along the river banks and probed and dragged for the body unsuccessfully.

At Narrowsburg, N. Y., across the Delaware River from Masthope, Pike County, New York State police continued their efforts to locate the body of Roy Hess, 13, Packanack Lake, N. Y. The body was drowned in the Delaware April 6 when his canoe capsized.

150 Pupils In Concert

Minisink Hills-Smithfield School's music department, under the direction of Paul Bartholomew, will present its annual "spring music festival" on Thursday, May 8 at 8 p.m.

This year's festival coincides with the national observance of "music week" sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. The 1952 festival marks the 14th time the Smithfield organization has cooperated with the local music club in observing the music week simultaneously.

The senior, junior and rhythm bands will be featured in the festival which also will enlist the talents of the girls' chorus.

Nearly 150 students will participate in the music program.

Sailorsburg, R.D. 1

Mrs. Esther A. Altomose

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Frantz and son, of Belfast, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Heil, on Sunday.

Earl Smith called on Floyd Remmel Saturday.

Angler Lands 24 1/2-Inch Brown Trout

Kunkletown—John Reto battled 15 minutes to land this six-pound two-ounce trout in Buckwa Creek near here last week.

Using a minnow for bait, Reto hooked the 24 1/2 inch brown trout in fairly high water. He has already entered weight and measure in a fishing contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scheirer, of Bethlehem; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scheirer, of Palmerton; William Serfass, of Gilbert; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Serfass, of Kresgeville, and George Halstead, of Sailorsburg,

All Classes To Take Part In Musicales

Kresgeville — A comprehensive treatment of the songs and musical compositions which make up "America's heritage of music" will be presented under that general title Thursday night by students of Polk Township School.

Beginning with the early Colonial period, the musicale will trace the growth of music in this country to the end of World War Two. The musical summary enlists the efforts of pupils from grade one through grade six, under the direction of their individual teachers.

Members of the junior glee club, girls octet, senior glee club and band of the high school will present the second portion of the program which will be almost equally divided between folk selections, religious or spiritual numbers, symphonic band tunes and songs in a currently popular idiom.

Edmund J. Kozlowski serves as general supervisor of the music program, the complete program of which will be announced later.
